COMMISSIONERS SUPPORT AMERICAN JOBS ACT

Affirming their commitment to the core principles of job creation, strategic economic development and fiscal security for Franklin County families and businesses, Tuesday morning Franklin County Commissioners unanimously adopted a resolution in support of the passage of the American Jobs Act as proposed by President Obama and included as part of the President's long-term deficit reduction plan.

The Act will be funded through the Federal Administrations recommendations to the Joint Committee charged with deficit reduction, and focuses on creating jobs through infrastructure investment and business tax credits; preserving important public sector jobs like police, fire and teachers; and, providing relief to working Americans struggling by providing more opportunities to refinance their mortgages and cutting their payroll tax in half next year.

"Nearly 50,000 Franklin County residents were looking for work last month," said Commissioner Marilyn Brown. "Franklin County families and job seekers need employment opportunities like never before. The American Jobs Act not only puts people to work, it puts more money in the pockets of working families. In fact, if passed, the average working families will receive a $1,500 tax cut next year. "

"The American Jobs Act will cut taxes, bolster small business and protect the public's safety," said Commissioner Paula Brooks. "Additionally it provides a new way of financing public infrastructure like roads and bridges that are sorely needed here. Congress should pass it now."

"The American Jobs Act is a budget neutral measure which creates real employment opportunities for American workers," said Commissioner John O'Grady. "Construction workers, teachers, young people and those who have been unemployed for an extended period of time will have access to more jobs without increasing the federal deficit. I encourage Congress to support this Act, as proposed by the President, and reduce the burden felt by families, veterans, businesses and the middle class in the Heartland and across the Nation."
